S4 AND S5 YEAR OPTIONS AND CHOICES
2021 - 2023

1) Next September your son/daughter will enter the 4th year of secondary school. The 4th year curriculum consists of compulsory subjects and a number of optional subjects.
The 4th and 5th years form a unit and during the 4th and 5th year all pupils will study the following compulsory subjects:

Compulsory subjects	Periods
Language 1 (mother tongue)	4
Language 2 (1st foreign language)	3
Language 3 (2nd foreign language)	3
History	2
Geography	2
Biology	2
Chemistry	2
Physics	2
Physical Education	2
Religion or Ethics	1
	23
Mathematics	4 or 6
	27 or 29

Pupils must then select 4 to 8 periods from the following options in such a way that the total number of their weekly periods lies between a minimum of 31 and a maximum of 35 for those who have chosen 4 period maths, and between 33 and 35 periods for those who have opted for the 6 period course.

Optional subjects	Periods
Latin	4
Language IV (third foreign language) or ONL[1]	4
Greek[2] as L4/Ancient Greek	4
Economics	4
Art	2
Music	2
ICT	2

1) Other National Languages.
2) This 4 periods option has to be distinguished from Ancient Greek chosen by pupils of the Greek section. Ancient Greek 2 periods is an option for pupils of the Greek section.

2) In choosing options, parents and pupils are asked to bear in mind the following points:

a) The curriculum allows a maximum of 35 periods to enable some pupils to take two four periods options, for example Latin and Language 4. However, 35 periods should be the exception rather than the rule. All pupils already have 9 examination subjects in the common core of years 4 and 5 and experience has shown the dangers of overburdening them.

b) With the exception of ONLand Ancient Greek 2 period option, an optional course can only be organised if it is chosen by a sufficient number of candidates (minimum 7 pupils).

c) With the exception of ONL, an optional subject started in the fourth year can be continued in year 6 and 7 only if there is a sufficient number of pupils to create a course.

d) The choice of an optional subject commits a pupil for 2 years (s4 and s5): (s)he cannot change, add or drop options as from the start of the 4th year. However, a pupil can change from Maths 6 to Maths 4

   i) at the beginning of the 4th year when the pupil realises that he has made the wrong choice and that his chances in the course are practically zero with the agreement of the 1st semester class council and the Director

   ii) at the end of the 4th year having been promoted to the 5th year taking into account the mark obtained in the 6-period course on entry to S5, subject to the approval by the S4 end-of- year Class Council and the Director.

   iii) The minimum number of course then taken must amount to 31 or more periods per week. The two periods given up cannot be replaced by another course.

e) As some of the options have to be timetabled concurrently, it will not be possible to provide all combinations; e.g. timetabling constraints make it impossible for a pupil to choose both Latin and Economics, or both Language 4 and Ancient Greek. In any case it is desirable that the choice of options should help to form a coherent group of subjects for study. Within the limitations of the timetable the school will try its best to satisfy the greatest possible number of requests made.

f) The two Mathematics courses (4-period and 6-period Mathematics) are taught separately. When a pupil chooses Mathematics 4-period course in S4&S5 then normally it is possible to choose only the 3-period Mathematics course in S6&S7. Only in exceptional cases could a pupil who had chosen the 4-period Mathematics course in years 4 and 5 follow the 5 period Mathematics course in years 6 + 7 (see page after).

g) In certain language sections, it is considered that the Physics and Chemistry options in S6 &S7 would only be possible together with Mathematics 5 periods in years 6 and 7. Please discuss this with the Chemistry or Physics teachers of your section.

h) The Economics courses will be given in the three working languages (English, French, German); however a pupil must follow this course in his/her second language. If the course cannot be offered in the working language, the course can be taken in German or French (even if it is L1 for the student) as these languages are “languages of the host country”, if approved by the director.

i) The ICT, Art and Music courses will normally be given in the language(s) of the teachers available. For some pupils this may therefore be in their mother tongue, for others in one of the working languages (not necessarily that of the pupil).

j) Any of the official languages of the European Union may be chosen for L4 subject to having sufficient pupils to create the course, and a teacher available.

k) ONL (Other National Language) options run in Irish and Maltese. There is no minimum number of pupils for the creation of these courses, which are protected for category I and II pupils of Irish and Maltese nationalities inscribed in the English Section. However when the number of pupils is very small, they can be taught in joined groups of consecutive years. They are not beginners' courses and follow on from the ONL courses in years 1, 2 and 3.

3) An information evening for the parents of 3rd year pupils is being organised on the Thursday January 7th 2021 online in order to explain the option choices. Subject teachers will be present.

4) Brief descriptions of the option choices are presented further in this booklet.

5) Religion and Ethics courses

The school will organize Religion and Ethics courses in accordance with the regulations in force, in the best interest of the pupils and of the organization of studies.

6) Exceeding the limit of 35 periods per week

While schools should continue organizing the 4th and 5th year timetables on the basis of a maximum of 35 periods per week, pupils could, with the approval of the director on the advice from the Class Council of S3, exceed this limit provided that the course(s) are compatible with their basic timetables. The exception applies already to the complementary course of Ancient Greek. 35 periods already represent a heavy work load and the school management would not like to encourage pupils to choose more than 35 periods per week. A request for such a choice must be made in writing, with a justification, at latest by 18th June 2021. The requests will be considered during the summer holiday in the light of technical timetable possibilities in case a favourable decision was made by the Director.

Please note that the choices made will be binding for years 4 and 5 and that results in all subjects will be taken into account when considering promotion.

7) Before making their choices, parents and pupils will no doubt wish to inform themselves about the possibilities open to them in the 6th and 7th years leading to the Baccalaureate. The following curriculum is currently in force.

The request is examined at the end-of-the-year class council and the final decision is taken by the Director.

d) This course cannot be chosen by pupils who have followed Economics in years 4 and 5.

e) Only one of L5 can be chosen between Spanish and Italian.

4) General remarks for years 6 and 7

a) A pupil's timetable must comprise at least 31 and not more than 35 periods, of which at least 29 periods must be chosen from compulsory subjects and options.

b) You cannot choose a subject in the 6th year if your results show that you have not been following this subject satisfactorily in the 4th and 5th years. In choosing options remember that a special importance is given to them in the Baccalaureate examinations. Please consult your teacher if you are in any doubt as to whether you would be able to cope with a particular subject at Baccalaureate level.

c) The "advanced courses" are, as the name implies, in-depth studies of the subject. They are not "support" courses and should be chosen only by pupils with a particular interest and ability in the subject.

d) Courses for optional subjects can be organised only if there are at least 5 pupils. Complementary subjects require at least 7 pupils. The options already begun in the 4th year (Latin, Greek, Economics, Language L4) can only be continued if a sufficient number of pupils (at least 5) choose the option in year 6. ONL will be organised irrespective of the number of pupils.

e) For timetabling reasons the school cannot offer all combinations of optional and complementary subjects because certain subjects are taught simultaneously.
Subject to the conditions mentioned above every effort will be made to organise the courses chosen by the pupils. However, it is impossible, for reasons of finance or timetabling, to fulfil all wishes. In that case, pupils will be asked to make a second choice.

f) Your particular attention is drawn to the fact that it is not possible to change options or supplementary subjects after the final choice. However, if the Class Council disapproves of a certain choice, a change must take place.

LATIN

Optional Course 4 periods/week

Preconditions for admission:

- This course can only be taken if the student has taken Latin in the 2nd and 3rd years.

- Those wanting to take Latin as an option in the 6th and 7th years must have followed the 4th and 5th year course.

- The subject is generally taught in L1 (or for SWALS L2). However, when the number of students is insufficient (less than 7) to form a class in L1, the student may well be able to join an L2 class.

Objectives

- To develop a knowledge of the principles of an inflected language. Unlike most modern languages, Latin has the endings of most of its words changed depending on their function in the sentence.

- To develop analytical skills to interpret long and complicated sentences.

- To develop a continuous sense of problem-solving by examining the endings and their function in the sentence.

- To raise awareness of Latin as the language of the mediaeval European powers, of the Church and of scientific, philosophical and cultural terminology.

- To bring the student into close contact with the first masterpieces of occidental literature.

Content

- Texts from historians such as Caesar and Livy, from poets such as Ovid and Vergil and from writers of prose such as Cicero and Pliny.

- Grammar and vocabulary.

- History of Rome's civilisation and the life of the Romans.

*This consists of a written exam (with an unseen text for translation and comprehension questions) for all the European Schools at the same time, plus an oral exam of texts studied during year 5.

- Candidates gaining a sufficient level overall receive a certificate testifying to four years of successful Latin studies.

- The Latinum exam provides a valuable first experience of an oral exam which is also part of the Bacc. exams in year 7.

Each language section tries to organise a school trip to Provence or Italy over several days during the cycle, and these are usually looked back on by participants as the highlight of the course.

MATHEMATICS

Compulsory subject – 4 or 6 Periods

Mathematics – 6 Periods (Standard Level)

This course is intended for pupils who envisage needing mathematics for their higher level studies. The course offers a varied programme that includes a deeper understanding of mathematics in areas such as analysis, geometry, probability and statistics.

Mathematics – 4 Periods (Basic Level)

This course is intended for pupils who do not consider continuing with studies where mathematics plays an important role. Its purpose is to help pupils to understand the scientific and technological world surrounding them with less emphasis on the theoretical aspects of mathematics.

Assessment

S4	A mark : The A mark reflects the ongoing observations of the pupil's competences (knowledge, skills and attitude) and performance gained within the subject, which are not taken into account in the B mark of the subject. The ongoing observations include the recording of pupil's progress.

Factors to consider when choosing between 4 Periods and 6 Periods

- To study the 6-periods course, pupils should have excellent knowledge and understanding of the mathematics covered in the previous years. The student should speak with their mathematics teacher if they are unsure of their suitability.

- The workload of the 6-periods course is much higher than the 4-periods course – students need to be interested and motivated in order to overcome the difficulties they may find.

- The 5 period Maths course in years 6 and 7 can only be chosen by pupils who have followed the 6-period course in years 4 and 5. The choice could affect future higher education options.

- Students may only change from 6-periods to 4-periods at the end of the winter term in S4 and at the end of the summer term in S4. A written request for the change would need to be made to the cycle coordinator before the class councils at these times.

For further information, please contact your child's mathematics teacher.

MUSIC

Optional Course 2 periods/week

The music course in S4 and S5 is a continuation of the work begun in S1 to S3.

The course is organized around 5 subjects covered over the two years. These are quite varied in content and by way of example can include film music, musicals, music of the 20th century, and dance music.

These topics allow for many performing and composing activities and enable the student to deepen their musical understanding and broaden their musical interests.

At the end of the second year the student completes a project on a musical topic of his or her own choice. This gives him or her an opportunity to make a presentation either as a performer, a composer, or as an expert on their chosen topic.
