A NEW BLUEBPRINT FOR A GREEN SCHOOL

We invite you to join us and become ambassadors to Agenda 2030 in our school.

Our goal is to contribute to a school that educates kids to become responsible actors in a safe and sustainable world. Schools are critical institutions where new generations will grow up and learn how to be global citizens. These young children will have to take over and live in the planet we leave them. We want to develop an educational system that embraces the need for a holistic and interdisciplinary approach to science and education that can help tackle the new environmental challenge. We support action that helps us change our daily routines, creates an inspiring environment for our youth, and encourages them to fight for change. Our students can grow to become actors of a new way to live on earth: not just as individuals, not only consumers and producers, but people who care and respect other living beings and the future of the planet.

The COVID-19 pandemic is a severe reminder to everyone about the deep connections between the spread of new viruses and the dramatic degradation of our ecosystem. This should serve as a shocking sign to our communities at a global level. At the same time, this new crisis has significantly limited our possibility to interact with each other and put in place suitable actions.

Under the current pandemic restrictions, little can be done the old way to bring people together. However, while waiting to go back to normal times, we can still do a lot to push our school on the right sustainability track: promoting awareness, sharing key information, identifying spaces for improvement, giving support to educational and practical initiatives for a concrete change at school level. We believe this can be done together, creating a successful partnership among parents, teachers and students.
